MRORTANT BILL.

Perhaps the most important bill passed at the day's sessions was House bill tool, from the consideration of which the committee bill framed by the House Committee and which, no Senator had read even, it relates by the election of State, county and district officers.

Mr. Harksdule findired if any Senator had read the bill and could say what it contained, and on being informed that none had, he demanded that the bill be read at length. This was done and consumed considerable time.

Mr. Wickham protested that the bill merely re-enacted the present provision, which had been in force for years, This aroused Mr. Barksdale to a venement, impetuous and impassioned appeal for some other method, in the course of which he criticized the sticklers for precedent.

Talk of Revision Committee Going to Different Places.

As the session of the Legislature draws to a close there is considerable talk as to what line of action the Committee on Final Revision and Adustment will pursue with regard to its work, and many interesting rumors are out concerning it. A gentionan who is well posted on the matter said last night that there was a scheme on hand to divide the work up, and that it was likely that Senator Walker and Mr. Boaz would go to Wytheville, Senators Anderson and Mann and Hon. It. B. Davis work in Richmond, and that Crionel Caton would "tread the wine pressione" in Alexandria. This proposition that the committee may sit in different places and divide the work up is a most interesting one, and is being freely discursed in legislative circles. As the session of the Legislature draws

The Board of Directors of the Laurel Reformatory will hold another meeting on next Tuesday evening to look further into the fitness of Superintendent Cringan. The matter has been up some time, and a general meeting of the members of the Virginia Prison Association was called at the request of Mr. Cringan, and a motion to endorse his administration in the face of the report of the president failed of passage, not so much, probably, that the members do not wish to endorse Mr. Cringan as that they did not wish to prejudge the matter after an investigation had begun.

TO CITY OF NORFOLK Delegate John Whitehead, of Norfolk city, yesterday succeeded in securing the passage of the last bill in which he and his constituents were especially interested. It was the Norfolk city primary law to which he secured an amendment providing a manner of electing the executive committee. The passage of the bill was not accomplished without opposition, but Mr. Whitehead never stands back by reason of that.

Asked last night whether he would be a candidate for re-election, the Norfolk delegate stated that he had not yet made any announcement, nor had he fully determined on his course. He does not anticipate formidable opposition in the event that he determines to run again. Having served several terms, he is now better equipped than ever to serve his section and he has the record of having won on every bill of importance on which he contended.

Matter To-Night.

The Railway and Steamship Clerks' Association will hold a most important meeting to-night, when the question of having club rooms will be decided. A committee from the association has been looking into the feasibility of the matter and, it is fearned, will make a favorable report with options on soveral desirable, houses. One is a basement on Main Street, near Fifth, that will be suitable in every particular, and can be secured without great monthly outlay. The membership of the association is now about one hundred, and with an endurable increase in the monthly dues, sufficient income will be raised to meet all expenses. Reading rooms and a snug resting place for the members will be provided at the club house.

The meeting will be held in Room 11 of the Union Depot, and all members of the association are earnestly urged to attend.

CANED ALL OF HIS FELLOW-SENATORS

Happy Address Made by Mr. Graham Claytor, of Bedford.

Bedford.

The members and employes of the State Sonate were yesterday the recipients of hickory canes presented by Mossrs. Sydnor & Hundley. The presentation of these canes in the Senate was made by Hon. Graham Claytor, of Bedford, in one of the wittlest and happiest speeches of the kind made at this session. He made some very enjoyable hits in pure pleasantry at his fellow members all of which were received with laughter and applause.

Mr. Claytor stated in the beginning that he now had an opportunity of caning those of his fellow-members who had antagonized his bills and made him the target for the merriment of his fellow-senators occasionally. He would cane the gentleman from Orange because he seldom looked pleased except when he (the speaker) had voted for one of his measures, Colonel Willard, the presiding officer, should have two canes for the reason that it was currently reported that he aspired to rise higher than his present office, if he found that two were not needed he might give one to some of his fetends. he might give one to some of Colonel Button, the efficient clerk, was er needed good, stout sticks for they labored hard to keep order in these closing days and showed signs of fatigue. Furthermore, they had no free passes, had spent all their money and would have to walk home and so would find a cane very helpful. The senator from Hallfax would need one to protect him from the wrath of his constituents when he got home, for he had made so many speeches that he had not given his fellow-members a chance. Mr. Gunter he would cane because though a new member he had talked incessantly, monopolizing the attention of the Senate.

IS MARRED

Kicking Spoils the First Play

THE GAME

Neen Mayor Taylor tossed the first ball over the pan at Broad Street Park yesterday in the initial game of the season between Richmond and Petersburg, fundom went wild with excitement, for they anticpated a battle royal and a contest between sportsmen. But ere two limings had been played out their cherished hopes had been dashed by the disputatious disposition of Captain Brockwell, of the Petersburg team. Overlooking this fact, the game was quite exciting and deeply interesting, resulting in a victory for the visitors by a score of 7 to 8. In reality, the result was nothing less than a gift on the part of Captain Hicks, of the Richmond club, who, rather than squabble, submitted to a number of claims made by Brockwell.

THERATENED TO QUIIT.

The contest should have been forfeited to Richmond in the fourth liming, when Brockwell called his men off the field and threatened to go home. He was roundly feered and hissed for this act.

Over 1,200 people had gone to the park to witness the game and enjoy the inauguration of the professional season. They came away disgusted with what they had witnessed, and a few more such tricks by any team will queer the game for good and all in Richmond.

But the game. The playing was fast and dandy, the Richmond team misking only one error—and this was quite osmuch an error in Judgment as in playing, but it cost a run, and tallies were deal. McEvoy and Charters did the twirling respectively for Richmond and Peteraburg, the latter having a shade the better of the argument, yielding fawer hits and having a bit botter control. In the sixth and seventh finnings MoS ov left the earth for a space, allowing five hits, which resulted in six of the seven runs made by the visitors. He accompanied these safe awats by one balk and a have one balls.

The game was enough full of thrills and by spen downs for the contesting into a three-bagger, allowing a man to score.

Until the fourth inning neither team made a run. Then Hicks was given a base on balls, which seemed quite right to every one except Mr. Brockwell, who was in no position to see the pan accurately. He declared that unless Hicks was called out for stepping out of the batemin'r box he would go home. The team threatened to accompany him, so Hicks simply declared himself out, the umpire refueing to say year or may. The detailed score:

Yesterday was an ideal day for trap shooting, and the largest crowd of the season was present at the regular weekly shoot of the West End Gun Club. The temperature was just about right, with not enough of breeze to affect the flight of the "mud ples," hence some good scores were mide.

The members were taken by surprise when President Hammond announced that interstate rules would be strictly observed as follows: Unknown traps and unknown angles.

The members readily obeyed Mr. Hammond, and even the trappers carried out Mr. Lynham's instructions to change angles on every bird and throw them "good and strong," but the boys pulverized them as though they had not heard at the new rules.
